We acknowledge that we live and operate in Winnipeg, on Treaty One land – homeland of the Anishinaabe, Cree, Oji-Cree, Ojibway, Dakota, and Dene peoples, and in the heart of the Metis Nation.

We also respectfully acknowledge that our water is sourced from Shoal Lake #40 First Nation and we recognize the many Indigenous Nations who make up the urban Indigenous population of Winnipeg.

We also acknowledge the previous plans developed for our community. This work would not be possible without the planning done previously for the urban Indigenous community.
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We also thank all the members of the Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle that participated in the process through sharing information, providing their thoughts and perspectives and contributing to a plan that will provide a Vision of the Future for Indigenous people in Winnipeg.

This initiative is possible with the contributions and leadership of Eagle Urban Transition Centre through the Assembly of Manitoba Chiefs and the Urban Indigenous Community Plan, Advisory Committee:

The Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle (WIEC) was established in 2014 by Indigenous Executive Directors from Indigenous-led organizations focused on restoring Indigenous systems of governance to work as a collaborative to advance the well-being of Indigenous Peoples in Winnipeg.

In 2017, WIEC developed the first phase of an urban Indigenous community plan which informed four (4) strength-based priority areas of focus and working groups:
INTRODUCTION

While these four (4) Priority Areas of Focus Working Groups operate, WIEC led the development of a comprehensive URBAN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY PLAN that will build on collaboration with our membership and key community stakeholders.

Many WIEC member organizations have completed community consultations and based strategic plans, programs, and services on those consultations. This project will work to operationalize the framework by reviewing existing membership plans, engage in strategic level consultation, identify Indigenous organizations and their services, gather demographic information, and utilize all the information gathered to help inform a comprehensive urban Indigenous Community Plan. The goal is to elevate the tremendous amount of work Indigenous organizations have done thus far in Winnipeg and will continue to do so as the Indigenous population grows emphasizing the need to support and reallocate resources to Indigenous led organizations.

The intent of the Urban Indigenous Community Plan is to:

- SHOWCASE the power of the urban Indigenous community
- PROVIDE a mechanism and/or framework to operationalize a vision
- CREATE an opportunity to evolve and expand WIEC
- INCREASE capacity for Indigenous people and Indigenous organizations in Winnipeg
- FACILITATE discussions between and with Indigenous organizations about future services and programming
- INFORM organizations to avoid duplication of services and create programs that meet the needs of our people
- ADVISE and provide support to organizations
- CREATE additional opportunities to work in collaboration especially in areas of common interest
- PLAN ahead collectively to meet the needs of the community
- CONNECT with others regionally and nationally
- REALLOCATE much needed resources to Indigenous led organizations as they have the experience and expertise required to provide culturally appropriate responses.
APPROACH

Our approach is aligned with WIEC’s objectives:

- Draw upon the SHARED PRIORITIES of each member service organization’s strategic and community plans to create a common vision;
- ENGAGE Winnipeg Indigenous and non-Indigenous communities;
- PROMOTE gender equality;
- RESTORE Indigenous governance systems, through reclamation of Indigenous ways of life;
- Through SELF-DETERMINATION, promote positive dialogue and relationship-building to achieve truth and reconciliation;
- Form COLLABORATIVE PARTNERSHIPS to restore Indigenous ways of being, to influence policy, and enhance resources and services to improve and increase positive outcomes for Indigenous Peoples in Winnipeg;
- Promote, strengthen, and advocate for resource equity and SUSTAINABILITY for urban Indigenous-led service organizations; and
- To CO-DEVELOP an action plan as set out all the rights of Indigenous Peoples as set out in the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada’s Calls to Action, leading to systemic change. This includes rights related to lands, territories, and resources.

In addition, our values are:

- STRENGTH BASED APPROACH We will focus on positive attributes / strength-based instead of deficits.
- WIEC RESPECTS AND UNDERSTANDS the important role each of its members and other key stakeholders/organizations play in serving community.
- Each organization has a UNIQUE and valuable place in the community and your relationship with individual community members is vital in that process. We respect your relationships.
INTRODUCTION

METHODOLOGY

There is a deep understanding and respect for the many contributions WIEC members make in supporting each other, the community, and the lives of urban Indigenous people. We used a diversity of methods to learn, listen and gather information to inform the Urban Indigenous Community Plan. Exploring our community using these methods enabled us to identify key priorities, set goals and identify strategies required to achieve success.

1. MEMBERSHIP INTERVIEWS AND STRATEGIC PRIORITIES
The premise of the approach is the understanding that each WIEC member has done the planning work necessary for their organization. We continue to respect and value your work in the community and the members served.

2. NON-MEMBER PARTICIPATION
Participation from key organizations that are not yet WIEC members is extremely important to this process.

3. SURVEY
WIEC members completed a survey that gathered vital organization information that demonstrates the scope of our collective strength, wisdom and opportunities of our community.

4. RESEARCH
The research identified provided us with some context of who we are as organizations, where we are located and what kind of services are provided. The demographic and statistical information will demonstrate all the things we already know.

5. CONSULTATIONS
One on one conversations/interviews were conducted to ensure individuals were able to share their views openly and honestly.

This project used a diversity of methods to learn, listen and gather information...
The UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (the UN Declaration) is the international framework for the realization of the human rights of Indigenous Peoples, including the right to self-determination. Effective implementation of the UN Declaration will result in significant improvements in the social, economic, cultural, political, civil and spiritual way of being of Indigenous Peoples. In this regard, the Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle will be guided by articles 3, 5 and 43.

The Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action, issued in June 2015, will also guide the work of the Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle. These Calls to Action are aimed at promoting reconciliation of Indigenous Peoples, governments, churches and all sectors of society in Canada. The Calls to Action are aimed at promoting the rights of Indigenous Peoples and overcoming inequalities faced by Indigenous Peoples created by the imposition of the residential school system on Indigenous students and their families and facilitating healing for all involved.
VISION
The Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle is a collaborative to advance the well-being of Indigenous Peoples in Winnipeg.

MANDATE
The Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle is comprised of Indigenous Executive Directors of Indigenous-led service organizations, focused on restoring Indigenous systems of governance. The Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle will engage in dialogue aimed at enhancing policies, service delivery and systems through a unified voice. This will lead to reclamation of Indigenous ways of life and guiding reconciliation, resulting in a society that is more responsive to the needs and perspectives of Indigenous Peoples in Winnipeg.

GOAL
Through strong sectoral representation and broad-based membership, the Winnipeg Indigenous Executive Circle will effectively lead on strategic priorities of Indigenous-led service organizations in Winnipeg and foster reconciliation throughout the community.

VALUES
WIEC is guided by the Seven Sacred Teachings. These are set out below, with a brief description of how they will be applied to its work:

- LOVE
  Love guides our work to ensure the survival, dignity and well-being of Indigenous Peoples in Winnipeg.

- TRUTH
  We will respectfully convey the truths of the urban Indigenous community, facilitating understanding and creating mutually beneficial relationships.

- WISDOM
  We will draw on the wisdom of our people to guide our work.

- COURAGE
  We will take a leadership role in addressing key issues that prevent us from achieving reconciliation.

- HUMILITY
  We commit to honouring our values and self-evaluating the ways we work to achieve our shared goals.

- RESPECT
  We will operate in an inclusive manner, to ensure that the diverse voices of all Indigenous Peoples and individuals are heard.

- HONESTY
  We will share the realities facing our Indigenous community, identifying necessary changes to ensure the survival, dignity and well-being of Indigenous Peoples.
Manitoba is located in the traditional territories of the Cree, Dakota, Dene, Ojibway and Oji-Cree First Nations, as well as the Métis nation. According to Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada, there are 63 First Nations in Manitoba, including six of the 20 largest bands in Canada. There are also five First Nations linguistic groups: Cree, Ojibway, Dakota, Ojibway-Cree and Dene. Winnipeg is also home to a growing Inuit community that migrate here from a number of areas of the far north.

Winnipeg is located at the junction of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers which is often referred to as “the forks”. The name Winnipeg has its origin in the Cree language with “Win” meaning muddy and “nipee” meaning water and its location has always been a meeting place. As early as 4,000 B.C., the Forks was a stopping place where First Nation people camped, gathered provisions, and traded.

Winnipeg has the largest Indigenous population of any city in Canada. According to the 2016 Census, Indigenous people make up over 12% of the total population of Winnipeg. Winnipeg is also unique as the birthplace of the Métis Nation and home of the largest Métis community in Canada, accounting for a majority of the city’s Indigenous population. Winnipeg is located in Treaty 1 territory. Indigenous people include First Nations, Métis, Inuit and non status people.
In Winnipeg, 54% of Indigenous people identify as Métis, 44% identify as First Nations, and 2% identify as multiple, Inuit, or other. 18% of Manitobans identify as Indigenous and 38% of Indigenous Manitobans reside in the City of Winnipeg.

The proportion of Indigenous Manitobans living in the City of Winnipeg has increased from 34% of Indigenous Manitobans to 38% of Indigenous Manitobans over the last 20 years indicating that the Indigenous population in Manitoba is becoming increasingly more urban over time.

The Indigenous community in Winnipeg is young and growing quickly. According to census data, Indigenous people in Winnipeg are much younger on average; 46% of Indigenous people are 24 years of age or younger compared to 29% of non-Indigenous people are 24 years or under.

The Indigenous Population in Manitoba and the City of Winnipeg is One of the Fastest Growing Demographics

The City of Winnipeg has the largest population of Indigenous peoples out of all major Canadian cities.

Indigenous people are much younger on average; 46% of Indigenous people are 24 or under while only 29% of non-Indigenous people are 24 or under.
Indigenous people live in all neighbourhoods throughout Winnipeg as demonstrated here. However, there is a concentration of Indigenous people living in the NORTH END and INNER CITY OF WINNIPEG.

Temporary or permanent migration can be voluntary or involuntary, and there are many underlying reasons for the growth in the urban Indigenous population. The top reasons Indigenous people migrate to Winnipeg include;

- Work
- Education
- Family
- Health

In addition, Indigenous people may migrate to urban centres for reasons such as escaping violence or discrimination, for example the discrimination faced by TWO-SPRIT, LESBIAN, GAY, BISEXUAL, TRANSGENDER, QUEER, QUESTIONING, INTERSEX and ASEXUAL (2SLGBTQQIA+) people. It may also be due to a lack of services in communities, such as: housing, elder care homes, specialized medical services, women’s shelters, supports for youth in care or child welfare programming. The size of the urban Indigenous population can also be partially attributed to government policies that severed connections to communities, including the residential school system, the 60’s scoop, discrimination in the Indian Act and other disruptive policies and actions.

According to the Urban Aboriginal Peoples Study, Winnipeg, 2011;

THE TOP LIFE ASPIRATION FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLES IN WINNIPEG IS A GOOD JOB OR CAREER.
This is more important to them than to urban Indigenous peoples in general. They also aspire to be well-educated, to successfully raise their families and to own their own homes.

FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLES IN WINNIPEG, THE DEFINITION OF SUCCESS REVOLVES AROUND FAMILY AND FRIENDS.
Compared to UAPS participants in larger cities, they place greater importance on financial independence and home ownership, and less value on having a strong connection to their identity and living in traditional ways.

WINNIPEG’S INDIGENOUS PEOPLES ARE MOST LIKELY TO HOPE FOR A BETTER EDUCATION FOR THEIR DESCENDANTS.
They also hope to see their children and grandchildren financially secure and living in a world without racism and discrimination.
Over time the urban Indigenous population in Winnipeg has grown significantly almost doubling in 20 years. This kind of growth presents challenges but also tremendous opportunities and strengths. These increasing demographics suggest other significant factors for the Indigenous community:

- EDUCATION RATES are increasing for both high school attainment and post-secondary
- GROWING MIDDLE CLASS – wealth accumulation
- CONTRIBUTE TO THE LOCAL ECONOMY – purchasing power, GDP
- INCREASES IN HOME OWNERSHIP
- CONTRIBUTION to the municipal, provincial and federal tax bases
- INCREASES NEED for community based, Indigenous led programs and services
- PARTICIPATION IN EMPLOYMENT is diversifying and increasing representation in the workforce

The self-identified population of Indigenous people in the City of Winnipeg has grown by more than 10,000 people over the past 5 years
There is progress with respect to social conditions and the challenges Indigenous people face. However, the gaps that persist between the social and economic conditions of Indigenous people in Winnipeg compared to those of the general population continue to pose challenges. Areas of particular social concern include housing, employment, education, health, justice and family and cultural growth. Many communities, like Winnipeg, are implementing community-based strategies stressing the importance of history, governance, culture and healing; unique qualities and values; the link between self-government and economic development; and the role and importance of traditional economies.

As the urban Indigenous population increases so does the need for a variety of programs and services that support the community. Indigenous led and driven organizations are vital to implementing community-based strategies that will have positive impacts in the lives of Indigenous Winnipeggers. They know and understand the community in ways that provides for strong relationships, successful programs and services that meet people where they are at in their lives and are deeply rooted in Indigenous ways of being.

WIEC is a collective of Indigenous led and driven organizations that know the importance of working together while still maintaining their mandate to serve their members. They have come together to focus on common interests and have set a path forward with priorities in which to focus. They know and understand collective power, strengths and abilities. As demonstrated below WIEC members make significant contributions to the fabric of this city.
This map shows you where WIEC members are located in the City of Winnipeg.

WIEC members offer a variety of services and programs to thousands of Indigenous people in Winnipeg in areas such as housing, families, education, cultural, healing, employment, social supports, youth, justice, and overall well being. As the needs of Indigenous people become more complex so does the remedies to support them.
VISION FOR THE FUTURE:

FOUR STRATEGIC DIRECTIONS

NORTH
Develop and strengthen relationships that will benefit urban Indigenous people

WEST
Foster a positive sense of identity for urban Indigenous people in Winnipeg

EAST
Recognize and Strengthen the Capacity of Indigenous People and Organizations in Winnipeg

SOUTH
Foster a positive sense of identity for urban Indigenous people in Winnipeg
NORTH:
DEVELOP AND STRENGTHEN RELATIONSHIPS THAT WILL BENEFIT URBAN INDIGENOUS PEOPLE.

WE ARE STRONGER TOGETHER

Interconnection is at the heart of First Nations, Inuit and Metis worldviews and ways of knowing. Our beliefs indicate that we are all inter-connected and the core of who we are is based in our relationships.

The philosophy and practice of connecting through relationship can teach people a lot about relating to others and to themselves. This helps us to engage with others in holistic and meaningful ways that support health and well-being.

Relationships are cyclical, continuous and all encompassing rather than linear, separate and individualized. This means that everything is important to everything else, and that everything depends greatly on everything else. Relationships are important to the Indigenous community of Winnipeg. We need to maintain, build, and nurture our relationships.

STRATEGIC ACTION:

1. Strengthen the relationship with the City of Winnipeg including other provincial, federal and Indigenous governments and create more partnerships and alliances between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people and organizations.

2. Increase opportunities for Indigenous organizations to come together over common issues.

3. Enhance relationships with government systems that impact our community.

4. Create resources that inter-connect organizations and is easily accessible for community members to navigate.

5. Establish a sense of urgency around supporting Indigenous business and service providers - Indigenous supporting Indigenous.

6. Develop a network in which people and organizations can reach out to each other to share, learn, and grow.

WE ARE STRONGER TOGETHER

EAST:
RECOGNIZE AND STRENGTHEN THE CAPACITY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLE AND ORGANIZATIONS IN WINNIPEG.

COLLECTIVELY BUILDING CAPACITY

Capacity building describes processes and activities that boost individual and community potential. A comprehensive approach to capacity building nurtures quality and growth in all aspects of life and community development: spiritual, physical, mental, and emotional.

In this way, capacity building recognizes the strengths and gifts of the Indigenous community and helps strengthen the ability of individuals and organizations in order to develop creative solutions that address community issues.

STRATEGIC ACTIONS:

1. Develop and Implement programs and services that meet the needs of urban Indigenous people.
2. Create mentorship and leadership opportunities that support emerging leaders to develop and grow.
3. Develop a mechanism to recognize and celebrate the significant contributions of urban Indigenous people.
4. Collaborate on the development of training for sector specific skills and abilities to increase capacity of individuals and organizations.
5. Create opportunities for shared services and resources ie. Fundraising, HR, Evaluation, etc.
6. Strengthen WIEC infrastructure, operations, and coordination.
SOUTH:
AMPLIFY THE VOICES OF THE INDIGENOUS PEOPLE AND COMMUNITY IN WINNIPEG.

AMPLIFYING OUR VOICE

In every community there are issues that are larger than the individual. Speaking up and out operates at an individual level, with organizations and at a governmental level. The main purpose of advocacy is to bring about positive changes that are person-centred, and people driven. Using our voice is about enabling the urban Indigenous community both individuals and organizations to influence policies and programs that support our right to self-determination.

Amplifying our voice is about empowering and enabling the community to ensure they are heard and understood. Indigenous people are the experts on Indigenous issues and know and understand the solutions required for themselves. A collective voice allows us to amplify our strengths, advocate for resources, speak in unity, and drive change for our community.

1. Develop opportunities to advocate on common issues and support urban Indigenous people to make choices that are important to them.

2. Advocate for increased Indigenous resources and funding opportunities then develop and implement a plan.

3. Implement a collective communications strategy to highlight and amplify achievements and successes in community.

4. Promote and support investments in healing to combat the impacts of colonization and colonial policies.

5. Develop relationships and strategies to focus on Distinction Based Right holders and the opportunities this presents to urban Indigenous people.

Right: The Talking stick is used in a number of Indigenous cultures. When it’s used in a gathering like a council, ceremonial or storytelling circle, only the person holding the stick may speak, while others listen without interrupting. When the person holding the talking stick has finished speaking, it is passed to the next person in the circle.

CELEBRATING OUR IDENTITY

– Winnipeg is home to the largest urban Indigenous population in the country and our identity, sense of belonging, and connection to culture is vital. For Indigenous people culture is the essence of who we are, our belonging, where we come from and how we relate to one another. It is the foundation of traditions, customs, values, spirituality, ceremonies, language, ways of knowing and being, and connections to the land. Culture fills all aspects of life and is essential to the overall well-being of Indigenous communities and individuals.

We know that the urban Indigenous community is diverse, and we respect that diversity in all its forms. We all belong to some form of culture and identify in varying degrees. Our understanding of our own cultural identity begins at birth and is developed by the environment in which we grow up. It may be a loose affiliation or the guide that directs our daily activities. Whatever the connection, our cultural identity provides a sense of belonging and it is time to revitalize and reclaim our identity.

STRATEGIC ACTIONS:

1. Develop and implement marketing/advertising campaigns that inspire positive and inspirational messages for and about Indigenous People.

2. Recognize the historical traumas and their impacts on people and empower individuals to heal.

3. Create more cultural and healing opportunities for people that are accessible, affordable and allow people to learn about culture, traditions and language.

4. Indigenize public spaces throughout the City of Winnipeg.

5. Develop and implement a cultural competency training program for Indigenous and non-Indigenous organizations.
WIEC IS COMMITTED TO THE URBAN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY PLAN and will steward the vision for the future for Indigenous people in Winnipeg. The goals and strategic actions outlined in this document offer workable approaches and solutions across short-, medium- and long-term timeframes and can enhance existing initiatives and/or build new solutions.

The plan acts as a comprehensive starting point for a collaborative response from the Indigenous community for the Indigenous community. It reflects the great work being done today by many Indigenous organizations and the need to unify in order to affect change.

Attached as Appendix A is a list of the investments urgently needed by WIEC to build a healthy future for all Indigenous peoples in Winnipeg. This evergreen list provides the reader a sense of the investment required to ensure a strong and thriving Indigenous community in Winnipeg.

We need to inform policy, build strong partnerships and drive funding to encourage greater involvement as we all work towards a greater Winnipeg.
